

LAW NO 3418/2005
Code of Medical Ethics.

Article 8

Medicine as a relationship of trust and respect

- 1. The physician's behavior towards his patient must be suitable with the science and the mission of his function.

- 2. The doctor ensures that a relationship of mutual trust and respect is developed between himself/herself and the patient. (S)he listens to his/her patients, treats them with respect and understanding and respects their views, privacy and dignity.

- 3. The doctor does not intervene in the patient's personal and family life but to the extent that it is necessary and sufficient for the provision of his/her medical services, if (s)he is allowed to do so.
